MONTHLY SUMMARY

The portfolio recorded a positive return in July.

Stocks contributing most over the month included Dutch-listed toll road and airport operator Ferrovial, UK water utility United Utilities and US integrated power company Sempra Energy. Ferrovial lifted on better than expected traffic from its largest asset, the 407 ETR toll road in Canada, as well as a strong traffic performance from Heathrow airport. United Utilities rose as investors started to assess that the issues at unlisted water company Thames Water would likely not have material impacts on the listed water companies, including United Utilities. Sempra's share price rose after the company said it would seek and extension of export licence for the Cameron LNG facility to support its planned expansion.

The key detractors over the month were French airport operator AdP, and US communications company Crown Castle and Spanish airport operator Aena. AdP fell as it guided to higher than expected costs in the second half associated with increased staffing to support the Rugby World Cup later this year and the Paris Olympics in 2024. Aena's share price declined as June traffic numbers came in weaker than expected. Crown Castle fell as it reduced guidance slightly following a weak performance from its tower services business.
